

Although the new K-41 is nimble, she's not quite a match for a competitive 12-meter. But with a CCA rating of 33.0, large foretriangle, spade rudder, and the smoothest and strongest fiberglass hull in the industry, the K-41 has already started collecting hardware in ocean racing circuits throughout the country. And no wonder. She's from the famous Kettenburg design boards which have been creating deep-water winners since 1918.

But there's more to the K-41 than speed. She's beautiful to look at inside and out. The same meticulous craftsmanship that has characterized Kettenburg boats for three generations is evident in every square inch of the K-41. Her large, functional galley, airy cabin, and spacious cockpit make her a dreamboat for cruising. Other features of the K-41 which will appeal to the discriminating yachtsman include chain plates molded into the hull, not merely strapped on the outside. Barient winches, the finest in the world, are stock equipment on the K-41, as are lifelines, bow and stern pulpits, butane stove with oven, and many other luxury items which would be costly extras on other boats.

All this can be yours for only $29,975. For complete information, write us or call any authorized Kettenburg dealer.
